NEWS SUMMARY

MAIN NEWS

That's the ticket?

A Sacramento County program started last summer during sweeps of homeless camps along the American River is reuniting homeless people with family anywhere in the nation by providing vouchers for non-refundable, nontransferable bus tickets. Applicants get the voucher only after the program verifies friends or relatives are taking them in.

Economy cools its heels

New economic information shows that in February the nation's unemployment rate barely rose to 4.1 percent from 4 percent while a lower-than-expected 43,000 payroll jobs were added. A second report also offers signs of a slowdown, with orders to U.S. factories down by a larger-than-expected 1.1 percent in January.

Hacker talk called joke

Dennis F. Moran

Seventeen-year-old high school dropout Dennis F. Moran, questioned by the FBI in last month's major Internet attacks, says he has done some "small hacking" but insists he was only joking when he took credit for the assaults on sites that included Yahoo! and Amazon.com. Authorities, however, say they are likely to file charges against the teen who uses the screen name "Coolio."

NAMES & FACES

A tantalizing role for tape

We're happy to reveal what exactly was holding in place the eye-popping dress draping Jennifer Lopez at the Grammy Awards: try toupee tape!

"Underneath the dress was a pair of shorts — bathing suit-like thing — (and) toupee tape," Lopez told TV's syndicated "Entertainment Tonight" in an interview for broadcast Monday.

How Lopez kept the dress in place was a mystery the day after the show. Her publicist said the topic was too intimate to talk about. Fashion experts said it could have been two-sided tape, tape attached to Velcro or a perfect fit.

No matter how she kept it on, the Versace dress, which opened in a deep V to Lopez's navel and seemed to defy gravity, was the talk of a lot of towns.

Toupee tape is clear tape, "sticky on both sides and extra sensitive for toupees, mustaches and beards," says Lois Rutledge of California Merchandise Co. Inc. in Anaheim, which sells the tape.

After Lopez tried the dress on the first time, boyfriend Sean "Puffy" Combs gave his OK.

"Puffy right away was like, That is the dress,'" Lopez said. "It was a good-looking dress. It wasn't as open as it looked on TV. ... I had no idea it was going to be such a big deal."

Nothing cheap about this deal

Newlywed Jerry Seinfeld is snaring the ultimate beach house — and the price tag could soar as high as $40 million.

The funnyman will snap up singer Billy Joel's 12-acre East Hampton estate in one of the most expensive real estate deals in the region.

The Spanish-style oceanfront spread offers plenty of room for the ex-TV star to frolic with his wife, the former Jessica Sklar.

Bounded on one side by financier Bruce Wasserstein's house and on the other side by the Mike Tyson estate, it includes a huge manor house, a guest house, a pool and a barn built in the 1700s.

"Yes, Jerry is buying Billy's house," said Seinfeld rep Elizabeth Clarke.

Wild about Will

Sharp-dressed rap-pop star Will Smith belts out his hit songs Friday in London at the Brits music awards. The event for the British pop and rock industry salutes the hottest artists.

Joel has lived there since the mid-1980s and is working on a move-in date for the Seinfelds, she said. The singer is moving to Long Island's North Shore to be close to the studio where he is working on a classical album.

Roberts flexes muscle

"Star Wars" filmmaker George Lucas and TV talk-show host Oprah Winfrey made more money, but movie star Julia Roberts ranks No. 1 on the Forbes magazine list of top celebrities released Friday. Although her earnings of $50 million last year were only 12th on the list of top money-makers, Roberts qualified for the title of "most powerful celebrity on the planet" by virtue of her media coverage. Forbes' list awards a power ranking based on income and media coverage, consisting of press clips, cover stories, TV and radio mentions, and Web "hits." By that reckoning, Roberts, star of "Notting Hill" and "The Runaway Bride" — two of last year's biggest-grossing movies — tops the business magazine's celebrity list. It has also helped her become the first woman to break the $20 million-per-movie mark for the forthcoming "Erin Brokovich."

That's what friends are for

Country singer Vince Gill and gospel-pop star Amy Grant are engaged.

"I can confirm that they are getting married," said Erin Morris, Gill's spokeswoman. "Other than that, they'd like to protect their privacy."

The 39-year-old Grant, perhaps the biggest name in the contemporary Christian music industry whose pop hits include "Baby Baby" and "That's What Love is For," was divorced from Christian singer Gary Chapman in June.

Gill, 42, is among the biggest stars in country music, with hits including "Go Rest High on That Mountain" and "I Still Believe in You." He was divorced from singer Janis Gill in 1997.

No more radio daze?

Boo hoo! Radio shock jock Howard Stern could end his radio career as early as this spring, TV Guide reports. "I have a couple of months left on my contract, and I don't know what I want to do," Stern said Wednesday. "I feel competitive and I still enjoy doing the show, but I have personal decisons to make." We can't wait. ...

Screaming for ice cream

Singer Miriam Makeba is 68. Actress Paula Prentiss is 61. Director Adrian Lyne ("Lolita") is 59. Singer Bobby Womack is 56. Musician Emilio Estefan is 47. Quote of the day

"I don't know that I have the courage not to have plastic surgery. The thing for me is not deciding to have it or not. It's about how we feel inside — that strong center of knowing that I'm OK no matter how old or thin I am."
